Current Account

This type of account allows you to lodge money into and withdraw money from it. If we provide you with a card that allows you to make cash withdrawals, you can use it at hundreds of cash dispensers or automated teller machines ("ATMs") or at a Post Office in the Republic of Ireland. Your card may also be a debit card which allows you to make transactions at retailers [see below for more details]. We may also provide you with a cheque book. You cannot take out more money than you have in your account unless we have previously agreed this with you. If we agree to allow this we will give you an overdraft facility.

Direct Banking

Our Direct Banking services include eBanking, Mobile and Tablet Banking and Customer Support. [These services allow you to access your account(s) by using the internet, a smartphone, a tablet or by telephone at a time that suits you best. It is an easy, quick and inexpensive way to carry out transactions on your account(s). You can permit someone else to carry out transactions on your account if required. Before you can use these services you have to agree with us that you will authorise Direct Banking transactions by Access ID. Access ID is your gateway to Direct Banking and provides security so no one else can access your information. Direct Banking services are subject to periods of routine maintenance.

Credit Cards

A credit card allows you to purchase goods and services in shops, by telephone or by internet. You can also withdraw money from ATMs. We will agree a maximum limit with you that you can spend on your card. We will keep an account of all your transactions and send you regular statements. You must pay at least the minimum amount of the debit balance each month. If you withdraw cash we charge interest immediately, otherwise we will only charge interest on amounts which you have not paid after a specific date. With some types of card we give additional benefits such as travel benefit.

Other Cards

If you have an account with us we may give you a card which you can use to make transactions on your account. Cards allow different functions and some offer more than one function. Typical functions are: access to ATMs and payment for goods and services with retailers (including by telephone or internet). There may be a limit on the size of the transaction for which you may use your card.

Savings Account

You can lodge money into the account and we will pay you interest on the money while it is in the account.

Debit and Credit Interest

If you owe us money on an account, we will charge you debit interest. If you have money in a savings account we will pay you credit interest. We may also pay credit interest on some current accounts. You may have to pay government tax on any interest we pay you. Interest rates may be fixed or variable. When the interest rate on your account is fixed, it means that the rate will not change until the end of the fixed period of time which you have agreed with us. When the interest rate on your account is variable, it means that the rate may go up or down from time to time (usually in response to market conditions). If your interest rate is fixed and you want to take money out of the account earlier than you agreed with us, then you may incur an early withdrawal cost and an administration fee. You can find details in our "Clear & Simple - Personal fees & charges explained" brochure or on our website www.danskebank.ie.

Cash Lodgements and Withdrawals

The Bank does not accept cash lodgements or offer cash withdrawals or offer foreign exchange services over the counter.

Customers can lodge cash to an account through Post

Offices in accordance the process prescribed by us applicable at that time.

20. Cheques

If you are an Accountholder, the following provisions apply in respect of cheques:

(a) Payments from your Account

- (i) Cheques issued by you on your Account will normally be received by us two or three Business Days after they are lodged at the recipient's bank. Such cheques will usually be processed on the day they are received by us. However, if your cheques are presented for payment through a Post Office, funds will be taken from your Account on the day they are received by us;
- (ii) Cheques will not normally be returned to you. Cheques issued by you, or copies of the cheques, will normally be held by us for six years following payment. We will provide details of them on request. The charge for this will be detailed in our Brochures;
- (iii) If a cheque issued by you is post-dated when presented to us, or if it is more than six months old, or if the money amount in words

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR ALL PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

(Please note that these General Terms and Conditions apply to all products and services that you avail of from Danske Bank A/S trading in the Republic of Ireland as Danske Bank (the Bank) unless otherwise indicated) differs from the amount in figures, we may return the cheque unpaid. However, we do not undertake to do so, and may pay the cheque instead, debiting your account. We may pay either the amount in words or the amount in figures, if they differ;

- (iv) If you issue a cheque you can stop payment of it, if it has not already been paid out of your Account. You must inform us of the date it was written, the number of the cheque, who it was made payable to and for what amount. This must be confirmed in writing. We will then take the necessary action to comply with your instructions. There is normally a charge for this service;
- (v) You are responsible for costs incurred due to incorrectly written cheques. You must exercise care when making out cheques and we will not be liable for any losses arising from alterations which cannot be detected readily. You must ensure that you write cheques carefully, in order to prevent alterations and forgeries;
- (vi) Cheques from your euro cheque book should be written in euro only and normally for use within Ireland. A cheque presented for payment from outside of Ireland will take longer to process and may attract higher clearing charges;
- (vii) We must be advised as soon as possible if you realise your cheques have been lost or stolen or you think someone has issued one of your cheques without your authority;

- (viii) If you draw cheques, authorise or make payments without sufficient money available in the Account from which payment is to be made, allowing for any overdraft limit and for uncleared cheques and other effects, we may return the payments and make a charge for doing so.

(b) Payments to your Account

- (i) Customers can lodge a cheque in any currency to an Account through certain Post Offices. Details of An Post Offices which accept cheque lodgements are available on request and through our website. Any cheque lodged through a Post Office must be lodged in accordance with the applicable process prescribed by us at the time, details of which are available on request or on our website. Any cheque lodged through a Post Office will not be deemed to be lodged to an Account until received by us, which should be the next Business Day after the cheque has been lodged through a Post Office subject to the cheque being lodged before the latest time of posting at the Post Office concerned. Cheques lodged through Post Offices on a non-Business day will be received by us 2 Business Days after presentation at a Post Office. Once received by us the cheques will be processed in the normal way as set out below
- (ii) If you wish to pay into any Account a cheque made out to another person, the cheque should be signed on the back by the other person. We may also require further details to confirm your right to the cheque before accepting it for credit to your Account and may decline to accept it. If, for example, the cheque is crossed Account Payee or Not Negotiable we may refuse to credit it to any account except that of the payee;

- (iii) We may request that cheques drawn on a bank outside of Ireland are sent for collection of their value before crediting them to your account;
- (iv) If you enter on the lodgement slip the incorrect total of the items being paid into your Account, we will correct the error and credit the revised amount to your Account. We will advise you of the change;
- (v) If you lodge a cheque drawn on us for the credit of your Account it will be credited to your Account and appear on your statement on the day of receipt by us. For interest calculation purposes value will be given to you on the day of receipt by us, but you will not be permitted to draw the amount of the cheque until after the first Business Day after the day of receipt by us;
- (vi) If you lodge a cheque drawn on any other bank in Ireland for the credit of your Account, it will be credited to your Account and appear on your statement on the day of

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR ALL PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

(Please note that these General Terms and Conditions apply to all products and services that you avail of from Danske Bank A/S trading in the Republic of Ireland as Danske Bank (the Bank) unless otherwise indicated) receipt by us. For interest calculation purposes value will be given to you on the Business Day after the day of receipt by us, but you will not be permitted to draw the amount of the cheque until after the fourth Business Day after the day of receipt by us;

- (vii) For cheques drawn on an Account outside of Ireland and / or cheques in non-EURO currencies) the clearing periods are longer: it generally takes fifteen Business Days to collect the proceeds of euro cheques drawn on any other Euro Zone Bank, ten Business Days to collect the proceeds of sterling cheques or euro cheques drawn on a bank in the United Kingdom, and thirty Business Days for all other foreign cheques. However, these "clearing" periods can vary and on occasions could be longer. You may not be able to draw against foreign cheques until the end of the relevant clearing period. For interest purposes value may be given to you earlier than the day the funds become available for you to draw. Sterling cheques drawn on the UK will be given value for interest purposes in three business days after the date of receipt by us, while all other foreign cheques negotiated will be given such value in six business days after the date of receipt;

- (viii) The reason for the delay in allowing you to draw against a cheque is to allow time for the cheque to be cleared and then for any cheques being returned unpaid (i.e. "bounced") to be received by us. During this time, the cheque is "uncleared" and money cannot be drawn against it unless we agree to allow this. If you withdraw against "uncleared" effects, you may have to pay interest (and if your Account goes overdrawn, additional fees) - even though the balance on your statement may appear to be in credit;

- (ix) Any cheques which you have paid into your Account and which are subsequently returned unpaid will be debited to your Account and you will be advised accordingly. We treat cheques as cleared in the time periods as set out in sub-clauses (iv), (v) and (vi) above and allow withdrawals against them. However, sometimes they may be validly returned unpaid after that time. If your Account does not have overdraft facilities or is a Savings Account, and you have drawn against the value of a cheque which is then returned unpaid, this may create a debit balance on your Account. If this occurs, you must pay us sufficient money to clear this debit balance, as your Account may not be in debit. If a debit balance is created, we may transfer it to a suspense account, and may charge interest on it at the rate applicable to unauthorised overdrafts;

- (x) When you present a non euro cheque, we accept it from you at the euro equivalent on the date it is received by us. However, it is given with recourse and if the item is returned unpaid by the bank on which it was drawn we reserve the right to debit the cheque amount, unforeseen costs and any interest from your Account. An unpaid cheque in a foreign currency will be debited from your Account at our selling rate on the date we debit it and you may be debited more or less than the initial credit to your Account;
- (xi) If we accept a cheque from you (in accordance with the foregoing sub-paragraphs of this Clause 20(b)) to be lodged for credit of your Account, we do not undertake to you that the cheque is in order, or that you will receive payment of its value. It is accepted subject to later verification, by us and by any other bank to which it must be presented for payment. It may be returned unpaid to you;

21. Closure of Accounts

- 21.1 You may close an Account by giving us one month's notice. Any cheque books and/or cards issued in connection with the Account must be returned to us and you must pay any amounts outstanding on your Account including interest and charges before the Account is finally closed. The closure may only take effect when any outstanding transactions are completed including any payments we may be obliged to make in respect thereof.

(Please note that these General Terms and Conditions apply to all products and services that you avail of from Danske Bank A/S trading in the Republic of Ireland as Danske Bank (the Bank) unless otherwise indicated)

21.2 We may close an Account by giving you two months' written notice, unless we have agreed a longer notice term or unless we are required by law, regulation or regulatory requirement to give you a longer notice term, or permitted by law or regulatory requirement to give you a shorter notice term. However, if we have reason to believe that you or someone else is using your Account illegally (including fraudulently, or where all or part of the proof of address and identity you supplied did not comply with the law) we can close your Account immediately unless required by applicable law, regulation or regulatory requirement to notify you in advance. If we have reason to believe that you are not keeping to these Terms and Conditions, we can suspend any transactions on your Account during the period between notifying you that your Account will be closed, and the date of closure. Unless prohibited by law, we will inform you as soon as possible if we close your Account under this clause. If we close your Account, money can be taken out of your Account to cover any money owed including interest and charges. We will not be liable for any loss or damage you may incur as a result.

22. Cash lodgements and withdrawals

22.1 The Bank does not accept cash lodgements or offer cash withdrawals or offer foreign exchange services over the counter. Customers can lodge cash to or withdraw cash from an Account through Post Offices in Ireland in accordance the applicable process prescribed by us at the time details of which are available on our website. Customers will not be able to lodge or withdraw cash other than Euro to an Account with the Bank at a Post Office.

22.2 If you pay cash into your Account through a Post Office in Ireland it will be credited to your Account on the date of lodgement. If you pay cash into your Account by way of Bank Giro effected with a third party Payment Service Provider it will be credited to your Account on the date we receive the credit for it, provided it is received before the cut off time on that day. You can draw these funds on the day your Account is credited. For interest purposes, value will be given to you also on the day your account is credited.

23. Interest, DIRT and Exchange Rates

23.1 In the absence of any written agreement to the contrary with you, we will charge and pay interest on a particular account product at our published standard interest rate for that product. Unless otherwise stated in respect of a particular product, the standard interest rate for each product is variable; the applicable rate on the day that you avail of a product is the standard interest rate as published on that day. Those standard interest rates are published on our Website, and by advertisement in the national press. When you avail of a particular product from us, we may agree an individual interest rate for that product with you. That individual rate may be agreed on the basis of (a) a fixed margin above or below a reference interest rate, (b) be calculated on a variable basis or (c) be a fixed interest rate, in each case as set out in the agreement between you and us.

Changes to such standard interest rates, interest rates tied to reference interest rates or individually agreed rates will be dealt with in accordance with Clause 6.2 and 6.3 above. Further details are set out in the "Clear & Simple - Personal fees & charges explained" brochure.

23.2 Credit interest, if applicable, will be calculated on a daily basis and, unless otherwise stated, will be credited to your Account quarterly in arrears. Credit interest will normally be paid after deduction of Deposit Interest Retention Tax (DIRT), at the applicable published standard rate. However, if an Accountholder or his/her spouse is aged 65 or over, he/she may apply to have interest paid gross. The application must be made on the appropriate Revenue Commissioners' form. Non-resident Accountholder(s) may apply to have the interest paid gross by completing a non-resident declaration. However, non-resident Accountholder(s) must also open each Account with at least €10,000 and maintain a balance in each Account in excess of €10,000 at all times, otherwise interest will be paid after deduction of DIRT, regardless of whether we hold a non-
